Law Enforcement plays an important role in identifying at-risk drivers on the road. Couple that with the increasing number of older drivers, and it follows that there will be an increased demand on law enforcement services. The issue is not about being older, but the age-related conditions that effect driving skills. While crash rates for older drivers are not up, preparations are necessary to handle the growth to avoid a sudden increase in crash rates and address this new challenge for safety on the roadways. This workshop will focus on resources and techniques to identify drivers that may be functionally impaired and the role of law enforcement to address these issues, including writing the citation for older violators, identifying the medically at-risk driver, and making referrals to MVA's medical review process for evaluation of medical fitness to drive.
